

CHPA (Combined Heat & Power Association)

energy efficiency for a better environment

The aim of the CHPA is to promote the wider use of combined heat and power and community heating. To do this, the Association works with its members, Government and other non-Government organisations to:

- address the barriers that currently face CHP and Community Heating;
- ensure that when Government policies are developed they allow CHP and Community Heating to play their full role in delivering economic, social and environmental benefits to the UK;
- educate and inform Government, business and the wider community about the benefits of CHP and the great potential that exists in the UK to take advantage of it.
